

Ken Lackman & Associates
Educational Consultants

present Ken Lackman's

Vocabulary Learning Strategies

An ESL Teacher Development Workshop

Important strategies you can teach students:

- ◆ to help them determine meaning from context
- ◆ to help them determine meaning from word parts
- ◆ to ensure that they become better readers
- ◆ to help them become autonomous learners
- ◆ to make the teaching of vocabulary more student-centred.

$30 8 universal classroom activities!

There is a group rate of $25 for three or more people.

10-page handout included

Approved for TESL Ontario PD credits

Limited to 27 participants

To reserve, email klackman@kenlackman.com.

Registration deadline is the day before the session.

Wednesday July 29 5:30 – 7:00

English Central

60 St. Clair Avenue East

Feel free to browse the bookstore and talk to other teachers in a friendly, informal setting.

You're invited after every Wednesday workshop to the ESL Stammtisch (7:15) for food and/or drink and informal discussion.

* Stammtisch is a German tradition where a group of like-minded people meet at a specific table in a bar or restaurant.

Ken Lackman spent seven years in Prague teaching and developing materials for The Caledonian School. He left there in 2002 to do the DELTA course in Wroclaw, Poland before returning to Toronto in 2003. After spending five years as Director of Studies at EF Toronto, he left to pursue a career as a freelance teacher trainer and writer. He has had several articles published in English Teaching Professional and is a frequent presenter at conferences in Canada as well as the IATEFL conference in the UK. He also works as a CELTA trainer at Greystone College.

Methods and activities for more effective teaching with less preparation